THE NEIGHBORHOOD ISSUE

HOME RESTORATION GUIDANCE

Cindy Miller

Mickey Conrad is the Chairman of the Architectural Advisory Committee of the King William Association. The committee was established in the late 1960s. There are many misconceptions about this committee, and often they are painted as “bad guys” or as playing “gotcha.” This committee serves a very important function in a historical neighborhood such as King William.

They are charged with maintaining the charm and historical details and nuances unique to our area. Protecting and preserving the old-world charm and architectural details of the neighborhood is often challenging in our current times. Real estate flippers and investors drawn to the area may not understand the history and relevance of maintaining the culture and beauty of the past when remodeling or restoring grand old homes.

Mickey is a semi-retired architect and serves on the committee with eight other members. The chairman is selected by the current King William Association president and then appoints members. The committee shares the common purpose to protect and preserve the historic residential character of the neighborhood as well as to encourage residents to take pride in the culture and history of this part of the city.

When asked about the challenges of serving on the Architectural Advisory Committee, Mickey cited the “asking for forgiveness vs. asking for permission” issue. Often when building and or remodeling, some will simply disregard the review and approval process then ask for forgiveness after the project is completed. The best approach is doing the research and asking for clarification for what is allowable to ensure the proposed work is appropriate to the neighborhood. The other challenge the committee faces is the reputation they have gained for being neighborhood “watch dogs” or being knit-picky and difficult to deal with during projects. His goal is for residents to feel comfortable asking for clarification or knowing exactly who to contact when concerns or questions arise.

Some residents have cited concerns about vacant buildings or questionable areas. He recommends residents read the links at the end of this article for further information regarding vacant buildings as well as for a more detailed explanation of historic district guidelines and proper avenues to follow when planning for construction or remodeling.

The committee meets twice a month to discuss upcoming projects. He encourages residents to understand all guidelines, ask for clarification, and seek guidance before beginning construction or remodeling.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Shawn Campbell

The King William Association is a unique corporation. I use that term because that is what is used in The King William Association Charter, dated July 28, 1967. It's an interesting read and in the KWA directories, old and most recent. The KWA Mission Statement succinctly boils that down to "promote the health and welfare of the KW neighborhood by preserving the historic and residential nature of the neighborhood and fostering educational, recreational and cultural activities". The KWA Board of Directors often refers to the KWA Mission Statement when addressing issues or promoting new projects to stay on track. So, how are we doing? Well, I hope you have taken advantage of the Cultural Arts Committee's free concerts and art exhibits (more to come as we drift out of Covid). The General Membership meetings discuss current events and sometimes have speakers. The Architectural Advisory Committee meets bi-monthly to assist neighbors and contractors and liaison with the city's Office of Historical Design & Review to protect the unique housing stock. And, although we are not a neighborhood association in the traditional sense, we are very much a neighborhood resource. One area we would like to improve is Membership and mentoring our neighbors, whether members or not. To that end, we want to identify "Block Stars," individuals who would be willing to put up a yard sign the Sunday before a General Membership Meeting or the free concerts. It might also include QR codes on how to join the KWA and/or information on the Architectural Advisory Committee. And, it would identify you as someone willing to talk to a neighbor. Remember the Radio Shack commercial, if you've got questions, we've got answers? If you would be willing to be a Block Star please contact the KWA office or me.

The Executive Director stated that the Grant Program would open on September 1. Board President Campbell presented the Board with an update on the Big Pig. There was discussion regarding historical signs and "block stars" in the neighborhood. The Holiday Home Tour will be in 2023. Committee members from the Architectural Advisory Committee, Cultural Arts Committee, Membership Committee, and Nominating Committee all reported active and engaged work in support of the KWA.

Please enjoy the seventh feature of Jimmy Heston's research paper on the history of King William. I ran across his paper while going through boxes that were stored at 1032 S. Alamo. Jimmy wrote this as a sixth grader in 1984, and we will continue to include his entire paper throughout the coming issues!

Address in the King William District: Symbol of Success

For several generations the King William area ruled the town. Several factors brought about its decline in the early twentieth century. Other posh "modern" neighborhoods such as Monte Vista and Olmos Park sprang up. Owners found it desirable to sell off parts of their lots and to divide their homes into apartments and close in porches to create kitchens and bathrooms due to the growing military and the Great Depression. Thus, many of the wealthier moved out while many staying obscured the beautiful architecture of the homes with their renovations either to provide rental income or to "modernize." The neighborhood truly became even more diversified as the remaining aristocratic families were joined by tenants of boarding houses. In 1947, the city even planned to bulldoze much of the area for a major thoroughfare, but residents succeeded in blocking the demolitions. The neighborhood no longer an address of success, but one of typical deterioration of a downtown area.

Fortunately in the 1960s, the declining trend reversed. San Antonians re-awakened to the architectural and cultural heritage that was there to develop in the old residential area. People in the home-buying market began to realize the advantages of the large homes and their convenience to downtown. Professionals working downtown, such as Mark Luitjen, a young assistant district attorney, chose the neighborhood over "fancier" northside addresses in order to be able to ride a bike or even walk to work. The new trend was toward restoring these old homes to their former grandeur.

Hopefully we should soon be past the hottest time of the year and can look forward to a pleasant Fall season.

Perennials are plants that last from year to year and can be planted now. Some are evergreen and others freeze in winter but come back as warm weather returns in the Spring. They are easy to grow, are drought tolerant, and have few if any insect or disease problems. And best of all butterflies and hummingbirds are attracted to them. And here they are:

- Butterfly Weed
- Plumbago
- Esparanza
- Rosemary
- Lantana
- Salvia
- Mexican Fire Bush
- Shrimp
- Mexican Oregano
- Turk's Cap

If cooler weather brings more rain, cut back on water usage in the garden. Sprinkler systems can be set to operate manually and be turned on only as needed. Go to GardenStyleSA.com for SAWS watering advise.

GARDEN NOTE:

Stones collected from special places like family homesteads or vacation spots bring memories and meaning to your garden.

BLUE STAR CONTEMPORARY

Daniela Oliver de Portillo

Come say hello to Blue Star Contemporary's (BSC) new visitor engagement representatives Joey Rivera, Karen Garanzuay, and Quinn In. These friendly new faces welcome visitors and neighbors into BSC's galleries and share information about the organization's exhibitions, public programs, and community outreach efforts.

Karen Garanzuay lives and breathes our neighborhood! Karen is a visual artist, dancer, and singer. She studied art and art history at The University of Texas at San Antonio and had a fashion design internship (turned freelance position) with fashion designer Betsey Johnson at her showroom in Manhattan. In addition to her position at BSC, she is the owner and curator at Creative Eye (an artist-run gallery, studio, and creative agency) in the Upstairs Studios at Blue Star. She also oversees social media and digital marketing for the Blue Star Arts Complex and social media and community engagement for Southtown Culture.

Quinn In is a multidisciplinary artist with a BFA in studio art and minor in Art History from The University of Texas at Austin. Her art focuses on the narrative structure of intersectional identity and the ways in which personal history and trauma work as both myth and making constraint. She hopes to foster broad cultural awareness through her practice and in promotion of her art.

Joey Rivera returns to his BSC family having been a student in the MOSAIC Student Artist Program as a teenager and more recently as an Artist-in-Community for Creative Classrooms. He is a ceramic artist who received a BFA from the Southwest School of Art in 2020.

Make sure to stop by and say hello to your new—and old—friends at BSC and take note of our new public hours on Wednesdays, 12-5 p.m.; Thursdays and Fridays, 12-8 p.m.; Saturdays and Sundays, 10 a.m.- 6 p.m. As always, BSC exhibitions and programs are free and open to the public, and your membership and contributions are greatly appreciated.

Don't forget to save the date for Red Dot, BSC's biggest fundraiser of the year taking place on November 9.

More details on visiting BSC can be found at bluestarcontemporary.org, and visit bluestarreddot.org for all things Red Dot.

KW NEIGHBORHOOD ARTIST

Cindy Miller

Introducing one of our neighborhood artists...Gretchen Haynes: The Infinity Ceramics Studio.

Gretchen Haynes has been a King William resident for nine years. Before moving to San Antonio, she was the Director of Tutorial Services for the Queensborough Community College in the New York City College System. She jokes that she relocated to San Antonio for the weather and family after an injury to her arm which she took as a sign to make the move. She purchased her charming Mission Street home only by looking at pictures online after her daughter toured it with a realtor. She loved the pictures, and the house happened to be blue which was her favorite color. The unique door framed the entry beautifully, and she knew it would be the perfect home for her. Gretchen's home has an apartment in the back which was quite common for some homes built in the 1940s. It's her understanding that the apartment was often rented to military service personnel back in the day. Today, the apartment is a ceramic studio which houses her ceramics, a pottery wheel, and kiln.

Gretchen always hoped she would one day be able to take pottery/ceramic lessons. After moving to San Antonio, she began taking lessons at the Southwest School of Art. She was hooked and has taken workshops every semester including the online classes she took during the pandemic. In the beginning, most of her art was given to family and friends. She laughs when explaining that after running out of people to gift her ceramics to, she began to sell her work at various art shows and for clients who commissioned specialized pieces. Her wares can be found at The So Flo Market, Huebner Oaks Farmer's Market, and Helotes Market Days. Gretchen has met some very interesting people and made some new friends while selling art. Ceramic mugs are her most popular items. Each of her creations is unique and special. She has been commissioned to make soap dishes, mugs, plates, planters, bird baths, and other one-of-a-kind pieces.

GRETCHEN'S RESCUE DOG, FIORE (FLOWERS IN ITALIAN) GREETES HER GUESTS AND ASSISTS AND OFFERS SUPPORT AS SHE WORKS.

Her favorite thing about living in King William is the restaurants. She is a member of a Thursday night group of friends (Stammtisch Group) who try a different restaurant in the area once a month. Stammtisch is a German word for regular table. Germans have a long history of gathering to discuss ideas or simply have fun. This group is made up of old and new friends who enjoy trying new restaurants and having fun.

The Infinity Ceramics Studio will soon begin to offer lessons for adults and children. Email Gretchen at jmhaynes@earthlink.net for details. Make sure to write lesson in the subject line.

(801 S. Main Ave between Johnson and Sheridan Streets)

(formerly San Antonio Housing Authority)

The Cultural Arts Committee is delighted to welcome back Volcán, San Antonio's Indie Orquesta Latina Band. Songwriter/Bandleader Jamie Mejia writes:

"Volcán serves up a heavy brew that could be called pan-Latin fusion or South American eclectic electric. Since early 2016, songwriter/bandleader Jamie Mejia and his compañeros (often more than 10) have made intricate and energetic music that finds inspiration in the Caribbean, Mexico, and South America.

Hailing from San Antonio, on the northern edge of Latinx America, Volcán offers a musical vision of Latinx unity. Volcán lives up to its name—a sonic dynamo rising from la selva, a towering and primordial force that billows and bursts and overflows with a mystical atomic heat that makes it impossible to sit still."

The concert is FREE and open to the public of all ages. Invite your neighbors and friends. Bring a blanket or chairs and a picnic if you like. We hope you will join us.
